

In The Light of the Rose

The fragrance, the scent, the most sacred intuition of life is ours as women. The mystical space that is our center is where our beauty, our freedom, our strength reside. Here we are truly ourselves, complete and whole.

When we look closely we understand that it is in this space that the Goddess holds us in her hands and gently whispers, "My Beloved."

by Ken Jones

Art by Francine Dufour Jones

This piece was for the show called "Pink" at Virtu Gallery in Anchorage Alaska. The show was a fund raiser for breast cancer awareness month. A percent of the proceeds went to Providence Hospital for finding cures for breast cancer.